

KUDU

Barbecue House

The Kudu barbecue-house allows you the ability to provide year round entertainment without all the drawbacks of trying to arrange a day around our British Summer!

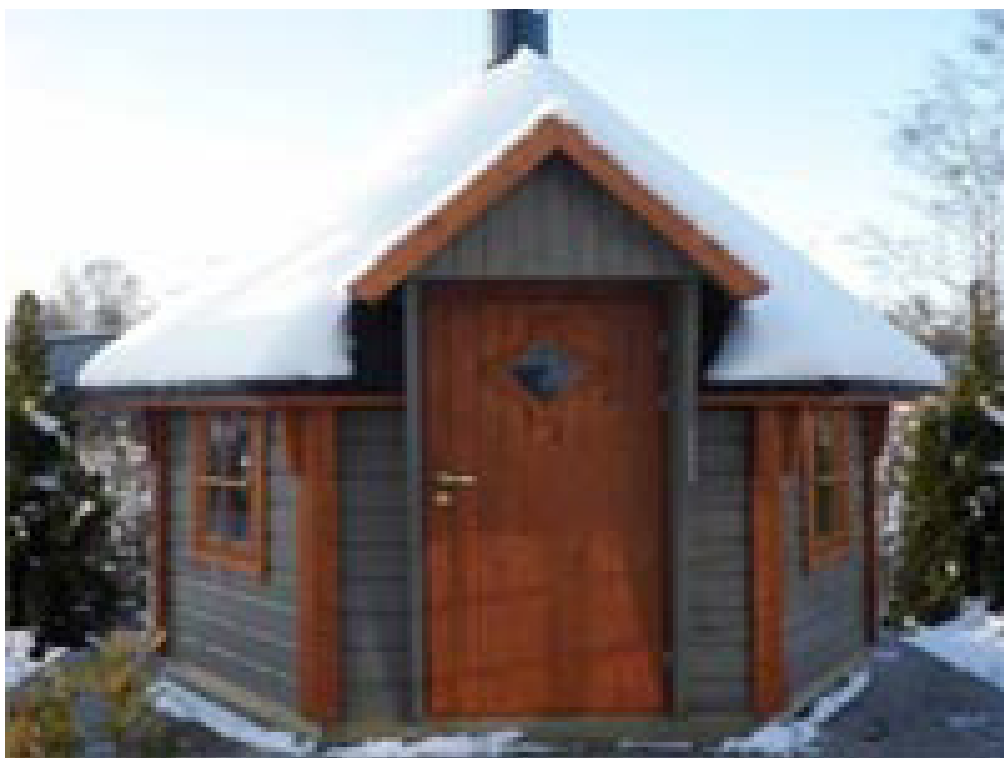

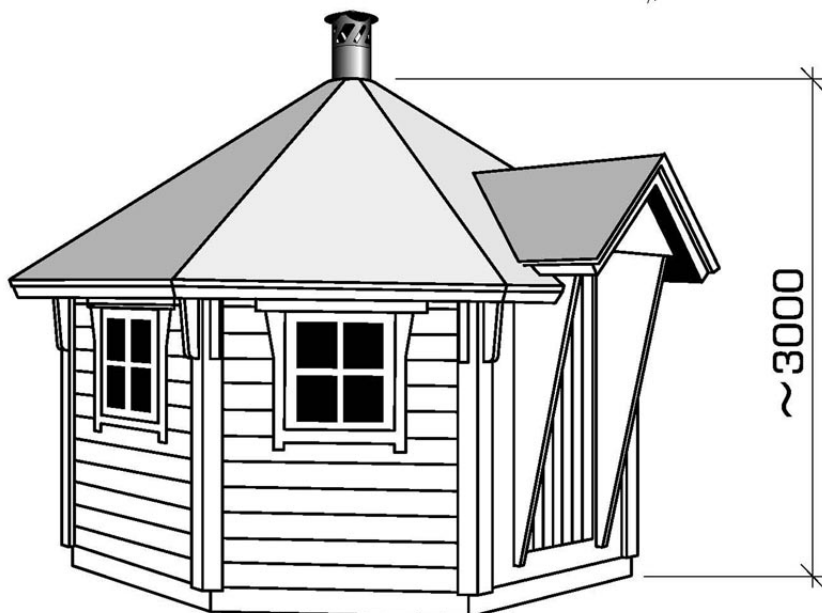

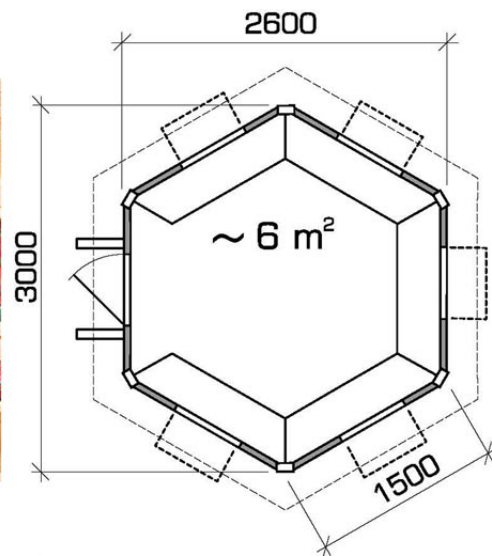

The Kudu Barbecue House is constructed from 45mm x 145mm double tongued and grooved Nordic pine timber.

It comes supplied with insulated opening windows. The roofing consists of pine panelling with roof shingle. Included is pine bench seating, wooden floor, decorated door complete with locks, fittings and fixings. Instructions for self-builders are also supplied.

A Leisure Buildings barbecue house is provided with all the fixings, latches, hinges and handles required for assembly, Leisure Buildings can also arrange to have your Barbecue House assembled on site using their experienced team of log cabin builders.

The Kudu is supplied with the barbecue centre table, chimney and grill.
